

Castration of America

A metaphor of what has happened to freedom in America, if it really ever existed except in a historian's wet dream is metaphor to creating an eunuch Castration of a domestic male animal for human consumption.

Castrating animals not used for breeding, supposedly improves texture and taste of meat products from the butchered creature. I observed the castration of an adult boar hog to 'sweeten the meat' before slaughter. The process was cruel, inhumane, and haunts me to this day, and I mostly avoid pork products because of the horrible memories. The farmer using a short piece of rope, made a noose that he then placed around the hogs upper jaw end and snout leaving the lower jaw free to allow breathing and screaming from the pain. He then pulled it tight and tied the opposing end to a stout post. The hog pulled, squealed and resisted fighting his noose with all of its focus remaining oblivious to anything else especially what was going on at the other end of him. Once engaged, the farmer leisurely castrated the animal without interference or using anesthesia. Moreover, to stop bleeding he rubbed a handful of salt into the open cut and raw flesh before releasing the hog. It dropped to the ground nearly lifeless in unimaginable agony; the creature suffered tremendously. I helplessly watched as it just lay there alone moaning, groaning and literally crying tears of agony. I wished to throw up and end its torture shooting it; but it was not my property or place to do it. How many Germans were in the same situation when dealing with Nazi's during Jewish holocaust persecution in the country during WW2 genocides and tortures in the death camps?

Yes, animals do cry when suffering same as human animals. Americans and our freedoms are metaphorically like that hog's circumstance. "We the Sheeple" are consumed with self and the immediate gratification of 'bread, wine, and circuses' while giving up our rights and freedoms to 'our protectors' keeping Americans in learned helplessness and distracted to what is happening to all of us in USA instead of owning responsibility for selves: people do not want freedom they want bread, wine and circuses of identity politics scapegoating a national target like Trump bashing instead of watching the real threats to their lives and doing something about it while they can. Like that hog, people focus only on the diversions, distraction & entertainments and not on what is being castrated from them. When it is too late, Americans will suffer greatly for their folly. Because once lost like that hogs flesh, it cannot be recovered. You never know what you got until it is gone. 'We the Sheeple' will suffer our slaughter until a merciful death that stops our agony.

"Modern society is hypnotized by Socialism. It is prevented by Socialism from seeing the mortal danger it is in. And one of the greatest dangers of all is that you have lost all sense of danger, you cannot even see where it's coming from as it moves swiftly towards you. Dwell on the past and you will lose an eye; forget the past and you lose both eyes."
